RESOLUTIONS LOOKING TO THE

John C. New Not to Get the Treasury Port lio-Public Building at Basic City-Status of the Shipping Bill.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.] WASHINGTON, February 9.—Resolutions were offered in the House to-day by several of the Republican members which they intend if adopted to have the effect of compelling the Senate to pass the infa-mous force bill. These resolutions or the substance of the same will be found in another column. In effect the principal one provides that the Radicals may have the power to offer the force bill as an dment to an appropriation bill, her provides for changing the so that the Journal of the House the pead to company time. Lodge, and Walker are the Radicals who Lodge, and walker are the Radicals who offered these outrageous propositions, but it is believed that Reed is behind the movement. Dingley is one of his henchmen and so is "Hartford-Convention" Lodge. They would do anything to compel action on the force bill, but it is exceedingly doubtful if they can move the Senate. The force bill is dead, cannot be resurrected, no what the hot-headed Radicals may do. The President undoubtedly is assist-ing in this proceeding. There will be a lively fight if the Committee on Rules should report the revolutionary resolu-tions introduced by Lodge, Walker, and

The report in some of the papers to-day to the effect that President Harrison had cabled Mr. John C. New to come home in order that he may be appointed Secretary of the Treasury is denied by highest official authorities. Mr. New will continue to perform his duties as Consul-General at London. The statement is made that Harrison will not take another Indiana man into the Cabinet. There is one Indiana man in the Cabinet already. PUBLIC BUILDING

Representative Tucker introduced in the House to-day a bill providing for the crection of a public building at Basic City, Va. The limit of cost is placed at $25,000. Representative Browne, who has been in Accomac for several days, returned to the city this morning. A CAMEFUL CANVASS.

The friends of the shipping bill will probably not attempt to call up that measure until Friday. They are making a careful canvass of sentiment, and unless they can be assured that they can pass the measure old Boss Reed will not consent to its being taken up.

The Senate commenced to-night to hold evening sessions. It is not believed that these sessions will be well attended at this juncture of affairs.

PROPOSITIONS IN THE HOUSE.

Sundry and Various Amendments, &c.-"To Prevent Obstruction," &c.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Washington, February 9.—In the House to-day Mr. Lodge, of Massachusets, introduced a resolution proposing two amendments to the House rules intended to prevent the use of the Journal of each day's proceedings as a means of obstruction. The first is to require that a printed copy of the Journal of each day's proceedings be furnished to each member of the House before the opening of the session of the mext legislative day, and the second to provide for a special session of the House every Saturday evening, at which the Journal of the week is to be read, and at which time it shall be open for amendment. Such session is not to be held unless demanded by one or more members. It is made the duty of the Speaker to examine and approve the Journal of each before it is furnished in printed form to members of each legislative day.

Representative Walker to-day introduced a proposed amendment of House rules so as to prevent the consideration of any measure when its position on the calendar is changed until twenty-four hours after the new calendar is printed showing the change made.

Another amendment of the rules offered [By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

Representative Geary, of California, today introduced in the House a bill providing for the free coinage of silver produced in the United States.

Representative J. D. Taylor, of Ohio, today reported to the House from the committee on the alcoholic liquor traffic a bill to prohibit the importation, exportation, and interstate transportation, in violation of local laws, of alcoholic beverages. The report accompanying the bill says that seven entire States, the major part of several other States, and many places in most of the remaining States have prohibited the traffic in alcoholic liquors as a beverage. This fact, says the report, together with large, favorable votes in constitutional-amendment contests where prohibition did not carry, and other "signs of the times," clearly show that the commerce in alcoholic liquors as a beverage, the use of which, experience has proven, is so destructive of public health, public safety, and public morals will not much longer be tolerated by the majority, the ruling power of this republic.

Mr. Taylor also reported favorably from the same committee a joint resolution prehibiting the manufacture, importation, the same committee a joint resolution pro-hibiting the manufacture, importation, exportation, transportation, and sale of all alcoholic liquors as a beverage in the United States, and in every place subject

THE SIOUX HEARING.

Civillan Agents.

Civilian Agents.

[By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

Washington, February 9.—The pow-wow with the Sioux delegation was continued at the Interior Department with Indian-Commissioner Morgan presiding. After several Indians had expressed a preference for civilian agents rather than army officers, the Commissioner suggested that the sentiment of all present on that point be taken. The interpreter was instructed to ask all who favored civil rather than military control to rise to their feet. With a single exception all stood up. The exception was Major Swords, the chief of the Indian police at Pine Ridge. The Commissioner explained his vote by saying that he had been offered a position in the regular army by General Miles. This remark elicited considerable laughter among the Spectators.

lar army by General Miles. This remark elicited considerable laughter among the spectators.

All the Indians complained more or less of insufficient rations, but not of actual suffering for food. Most of them wanted schools like those at Hampton and Carlisle established on their reservations, where their influence would be felt by the parents of the children under training as well as by the children themselves.

Renewed complaint was made to-day that whites were employed at the agencies for purposes to which Indians were better adapted. Other complaints were that white squatters encroached upon Indian lands and could not be dusted because the boundaries had not been definitely surveyed; also, that where reservations adjoined the lines were not clearly marked. No promises were given by Commissioner Morgan or Secretary Noble beyond what are contained in the Sioux agreement of 1889, and that such matters as boundaries and the encroachments of squatters should be attended to.

(Special telegram to the Dispatch.)

PULASKI, VA., February 9.—About 9 o'clock this morning the town was startled by a terrific explosion at the Pulaski Iron-Furnace. Despite the rain crowds started for the scene of desolation.

The damage was found to be cantred in the engine-house, where the massive blowing-pipe had been exploded by a pressure of gas and the two engines of 750-horse power each were strewn with debris, while against the front wall Chief-Engineer Hemmer's was found bleeding and unconscious. C. M. White, water-tender, and Edward Sublett, a boy, were also taken from the ruins, but proved to be but slightly hurt. The engine-house, a large brick structure, is almost a wreck as large brick structure, is almost a wreck as to the walls, while the roof is virtually MIRACULOUS ESCAPES.

General Manager Eckman was standing but a few feet from the building when the explosion occurred and his escape from flying missifies was remarkable. Boss-Machinist Champlaine and his son were in the wrecked building, but escaped unburt. Four physicians were quickly on the ground and tenderly cared for the engineer. His injuries are from concussion and the result cannot yet be determined. It was feared that the furnace would have to blow out, but by the good fortune of having just received a third engine, and being able to get some parts from the second furnace building here, it is hoped that they will be able to bank the fires until repairs can be able to bank the fires until repairs can be building here, it is noped that they will be able to bank the fires until repairs can be made. prevent such accumulation of gas.

Mow IT HAPPENED.

The engines had been stopped in order to put in a new tube at the furnace, and at the signal to put on the blast one engine was just starting when the calamity occurred. The explosion occurred where the blowing-pipes entered the tub above the engine. Its force tore out the connecting pipes, and thus wrecked both the blowing-tubes. The damage direct and consequential will reach $10,000, and double that amount if the furnace chills. NEW ENTERRERISES.

The final contracts for the relling-mill were signed to-day, and by July the muck-mills will be running. By August there will be two hundred men employed. C.C. L. ALEXANDRIA, February 9.—Alexandria has for some time past been getting out of the old ruts in which it has moved for nearly a century in the management of municipal affairs. Recently the City Council passed an, ordinance requiring all physicians to report deaths and making a burial-permit necessary before the body can be buried. Then came an ordinance requiring a permit for the erection and improvement of houses and the building of a fence around them during the process of erection. Several other changes to the modern style of running a city have recently been adopted, and the latest change is a proposal recently made to create a police board to take charge of the police force and police matters. A TALE OF TERROR. EXPERIENCES OF THREE MINERS ENTOMBED FOR DAYS.

Perched on a Three-inch Plank in Utter Darkness-Their Plucky Rescue-Their Sufferings,

[By telegraph to the Dispatch.] WILEPSHARRE, PA., February 2.-Intens oy and excitement prevail in the little hamlet of Grand Tunnel this morning over the rescue of three entombed miners, im-prisoned by water rushing into the gangways and breasts of the Susquehannah Company's colliery at that place Wednesof last week after firing a blast. Since the men were lost experienced miners declared that their rescue alive was imposs clared that their rescue alive was impossible, and they were practically given up. The whole community was in mourning over their supposed sad fate. The names of the men are Michael Shelank, William Cragel, and John Rineer—all well-known miners. They were found alive in the upper workings near the outcrop, the water being unable to reach them after they managed to get out of its swirl, when it was rushing through the mine. The company's employes have exerted every effort to get the water out, and by pressing into service the mammoth pumps they were able to lower the water sufficiently to let the rescuing party in this morning. were able to lower the water sufficiently to let the rescuing party in this morning. The men were found in an almost exhausted condition from their one bundred and fifteen hours' imprisonment. It will require care to bring through. Their sufferings have been intense, but they were outly by the hope of being rescued, and the outcrop workings being fairly well ventilated they were able to secure enough pure air to keep them alive.

The immense pumps used to clear water from the inundated portion were run to their utmost capacity and during last night the water receded very much. When sufficiently low this morning a raft was constructed, and on this the rescuing party managed to get through the gangways to a point in the vein where the coal had a pitch of forty degrees. The raft was turned into a cross-heading and the men were found up above the water sitting on the cross-timber, whither they had gone immediately after they discovered the water coming in upon them on Wednesday. Before they had advanced many steps the water was up to their necks and they were carried along by its force.

EXPERIENCE OF THE ENTOMBED MEN. STORY OF THE RESCUE. EXPERIENCE OF THE ENTOMBED MEN.

EXPERIENCE OF THE ENTOMBED MEN.

Being aware of the pitch in the vein they happily selected the only point in the workings where they could have gone in safety and perched themselves on the timbers hiph above the flood. Their only lamp lasted three hours, and from about 6 o'clock Wednesday they sat on this timber in total darkness without a morsel to eat until their rescue this morning. Two of them became crazed at times, and with the greatest difficulty their single companion managed to keep them from leaving the cross-heading during the long, weary hours that intervened. Their position was beyond all description, and but for the knowledge that their liberated companions in the mines would do everything to rescue them the men would have given up in despair.

Intense excitement prevails and the company is praised on every hand for the exhaustive measures they took to rescue he unfortunate men.

A REMARKABLE STORY. The story of the escape of the miners is a remarkable one. After they had reached a point of comparative safety from the floed they found that only a slender piece of wood served to keep back tons of loose coal that had fallen into the mouth or head of the cross-cut. When they found an incline cut in the vein and climbed up its almost perpendicular passage they managed to press into service a piece of loose timber which they had picked up in their hasty, retreat, and this they placed across the opening of the tunnel, and after getting it safely lodged climbed upon it for seats. The men then found that their feet rested in the water below them, but soon after they determined from its gursoon after they determined from its gur-gling sound that it had gained the greatest altitude it could.

ON A THREE-INCH STICK FOUR DAYS. There they were sitting on a slender siece of timber three inches wide for over piece of timber three inches wide for over four days. Behind them was an immense body of coal, held in place by a small "prop," and, fearing to dislodge it, the men dared not even rest against it. By changing the oil in their lamps and econo-mizing they were enabled to keep a light for a few hours, but this supply had an end, and after a short time they were com-valled to get in absolute darkness with the new Washington Association base-ball team. The capital stock is $20,000, divided into shares of $500 each. H. B. Bennett is its president and T. B. Kalbfus is its secretary. Its local attorney is Mr. James R. CRAZINESS APPEARS.

John Rineer, the most experienced of the miners, an employé of many years' standing in the colliery, was able to keep his head in their long imprisonment, but both Cregel and Shilling at times became crazed. Cregel imagined he saw a mine-car and jumped down into the water to ride to the alope upon it. He was rescued and got back on the perch by Rineer. Shilling was more easily managed, although he was sobbing considerably. Wednesday night passed and Thursday came and then the men lost track of time. THE FIRST WELCOME SOUND

reaching their ears was the "plunk" of the pump, and then the men knew that active work had commenced towards their rescue. But while this welcome sound reached their ears the men were almost overcome by the dreaded sound of the working of the coal and loosened particles held in check behind them. A creaking sound showed that the coal was becoming sound showed that the coal was becoming loosened and every moment they expected a slide of coal which would envelop them and carry them into the lower part of the cross-heading. By gradually throwing away the loosening pieces they kept the opening clear and so lingered and waited, listening to the sounds of the work of the rescuing party. rescuing party. ANYTHING TO KEEP WARM.

ANYTHING TO KEEP WARM.

And while they sat there in the cold they rubbed one another and adopted every method they could conceive to keep warm. The first communication with the imprisoned miners was had at 3 o'clock this morning and at 5 o'clock the water had lowered so they could be taken out one by one on the raft. They were wrapped in blankets and given warm milk as their first refreshment and then carried home. They will have to live on beef tea for a few days but will then be all right.

AN ALABAMA CYCLONE.

jures People Seriously. [By tolegraph to the Dispatch.]

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.. February 9.—A cyclone struck Helena about 4 o'clock this afternoon. A dull, roaring sound was heard and the people just had time to get to their doors when they saw a black whirling cloud skim over the top of the hotel in the northern part of the village. It next encountered telegraph poles, twisting them off like pipestems. Coming down the railroad track it laid the station-building flat on the platform, and then crossed the track diagonally and levelled the store of Thomas Davidson. C. T. and James Davidson were in the store and both were hurt about the head, and P. D. Lee was bruised about the body. The cyclone then lifted and passed over a three-story building, struck the Helena Rolling-Mill about two hundred yards from the station, taking the roof off both mill and stock-house. The cloud passed on in a southeasterly direction, and a report has reached here that it struck Talladega in its course.

LONDON, February 9.—In the House of Commons to-day R. K. Causton, Gladstoneian member for West Southwark, asked whether Catholics would be eligible to occupy the position of Lord Chancellor of England or Viceroy of Ireland. Sir Richard Webster, the Attorney-General, declined to answer on the ground that eminent lawyers differed on the question, which would become practical if any Government appointed a Catholic to either of these positions.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

London, February 9.—It is probable that the McCarthyite meeting which has been set for Thursday next will be postponed, or if it is had that only an incomplete statement will be possible.

Mr. Parnell considers the Gladstonean assurances inadequate, and it is said that he declines to pledge himself to retire beyond the present session of Parliament, and insists upon retaining control of the Irish party until the next general election. A section of the Healyites intend on Thursday to demand that negotiations be broken on the ground that too much deference is paid to the position and claims of Parnell.

A Unanimous Sentiment in Behalf of House Action on the Silver Question, (By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Washington, February 9.—A meeting of about fifteen Republican representatives, including free-coinage men and those who hold more conservative views on the subject, was held at the house of Representative Townsend, of Colorado, to-night, to discuss the present phase of the Senate silver bill and the prospects of getting the silver question before the House in some shape.

The sentiment was unanimous that action should be taken in the matter, and a determination was expressed that the House should have an opportunity to act upon the silver question in some form. While the extreme silver-men were unwilling to accept anything that did not embody the free-coinage idea, several more conservative measures were discussed, among them the free coinage of the American product, and a plan of campaign by which it is hoped to bring the House to a vote upon the silver question was outlined, though not formally agreed upon.

THE SENATE SILVER BILL TO BE REPORTED THIS WEEK.

Representative Wilcox, of the House Coinage Committee, said to a Post reporter to-night that the Senate silver bill will be reported from the House Coinage Committee this week. There will be two reports—an adverse one, signed by Representatives Wickham, Walker, Comstock, Knapp, and Taylor, Republicans, and Tracy, Wilcox, and Vaux, Democrats. The favorable report will be signed by Representatives Carter and Bartine, Republicans, and Bland and Williams, Democrats.

The Post adds that the meeting of silver Republicans to-night shows that they feel that the time has come for united action and that a caucus of Republican members may be called to hear what the silver-men have to say.

Chicaeo, February 2.—J. A. Ownbey, the silver-pool witness, arrived from Washington to-day. He threatens to bring suit against the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House and others whom he holds responsible for his arrest while there. In an interview he said he had a great quantity of evidence, which he was not permitted to give, which would have shown that he and Donald, the New York bank cashier, had an explicit understanding. Ownbey exhibited a number of telegrams and letters signed 'Donald,' which were evidently in cipher or very guardedly worded, as their meaning was not apparent. Ownbey declares that a member of Congress from Nebraska, whose name he gave, offered him $2,500 not to testify as to facts known to him in regard to the silver-pool.

OVER NINETY YEARS OLD. Death of a Lady in Chesterfield Who

Born in the Last Century. The death of Mrs. Sallie McTyeire Win-sten occurred at her residence in Chester-field county last Saturday afternoon. Her age was not precisely known, but some of her oldest and most intimate acquaintances state confidently that she was about nine-te, five.

Mrs. Winston spent the greater portion of her life within a few miles of the Midlothian coal-mines and near where she was born. She was for many years a member of Bethlehem Baptist church and was one of the most widely, and favorably-known ladies in the county of her birth and i of the most widely, and favorably-known-ladies in the county of her birth and in the counties contiguous thereto. A woman of bright and highly-cultivated intellect, she possessed remarkably fine conversational powers. Mrs. Winston was a thoroughly devoted Christian. Full of energy and constantly stimulated by a desire to do something to promote and build up the cause and the church to which she had consecrated her life, she was always among the foremost of those who were engaged in enterprises of a benevolent and charitable nature. She was universally admired and beloved by the members of other Christian denominations. It is doubtfullif any woman acting in her limited sphere ever had a larger number of sincere friends or did more for the benefit of humanity and the cause of her Divine Master than did the subject of this sketch.

Mrs. Winston was the widow of Isaac Winston, who was the widow of Isaac Winston, who was the uncle of Professor Charles H. Winston and Dr. Peter Winston, She was the aunt of the late Bishop McTyeire, of the southern Methodist Church, and was the great niece of the late General Winston!

Tyeire, of the southern Methodist Church, and was the great niece of the late General Winfield Scott.

The funeral took place yesterday at 2 o'clock from her late residence in Chesterfield, and was largely attended.

Funeral of Joseph P. Kain

Funeral of Joseph P. Kain.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph P. Kain from St. Patrick's church Sunday afternoon was one of the largest ever held from that edifice. Captain Frank Cunningham sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Father Donahoe officiated. The floral offerings were particularly handsome and numerous. The interment was at Oakwood, the following gentlemen being the pall-bearers: Messrs. Harvey L. Davis, Edgar H. White Claiborne Epps. Louis Loterzo, Thomas Wesley, David Halloran, Frederick Scott, and John Botto.

The Plymouth Brethren, who have been attracting considerable attention from the fact of having been confounded with the Mormons, had services in Kerse's Hall in Fulton Sunday, which consisted of singing, prayer, and exhortation. These people appear happy in their belief and certain of salvation. They have no regular organization, although they meet annually in Philadelphia. Their mode of worship is very similar to that of the Salvation Army. Like the Salvation Army.

The Odd-Fellows expect to have a section in River-View cemetery. The Richmond fraters will pay for the ground and the Grand Lodge, which meets here April 14th, is to raise the money to erect a monument to the late Judge E. H. Fitzhugh, who was a devoted member of the order, having been grand master of Virginia and deputy grand sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the World.

On Friday evening last quite a pleasant entertainment was given by Mrs. James B. Patton in honor of Miss Carrie Wren, of Staunton. Among the young ladies present were: Misses Carrie Wren, Kate Williams, Minnie Drewry, Virginia Tyler, Alberta Williams, Sey, Kate Drewry, Lilian Robertson, and Mrs. Spencer. The gentlemen were: Messrs. Randolph, Scott, Vaughan, R. H. Wren, J. F. Wren, McGeorge, Kennon, Spencer, and Williams.
